WORLD ARCHITECTURE DAY 2020: TOWARD A BETTER URBAN FUTURE

The UIA is pleased to announce the theme of World Architecture Day 2020 (Monday, 5 October 2020): “Toward a better urban future.”

Just as it is reshaping social customs and spaces all across the world, the global pandemic is revealing once again how crises affect the poorest and most vulnerable populations disproportionately. Urban planning, design, and architecture are critical to a better urban future for all.

The UIA and its member countries will mobilise on 5 October 2020 to show how urban design and architecture can make our communities strong, safe, equitable, and affordable.

UIA PRESIDENT THOMAS VONIER INTERVIEWS UNESCO ASSISTANT DIRECTOR GENERAL FOR CULTURE ERNESTO OTTONE

To mark the one-year countdown to the UIA World Congress (18-22 July 2021, Rio de Janeiro), UIA President Thomas Vonier interviewed UNESCO Assistant Director-General for Culture, Ernesto Ottone Ramirez. During the interview, Ottone spoke of the impact of the pandemic on the culture sector, informing that 77% of World Heritage sites are closed and 13% of the world's cultural institutions are unlikely to ever reopen after the pandemic. Thomas Vonier highlighted the need for architects and urban planners to give consideration to how to adapt spaces for continued use during pandemics.

INTERVIEW WITH HOANG THUC HAO, WINNER OF THE 2017 VASSILIS SGOUTAS PRIZE FOR IMPLEMENTED ARCHITECTURE SERVING THE IMPOVERISHED

This past summer, the UIA Secretariat spoke with 2017 Vassilis Sgoutas Prize laureate, Vietnamese architect Hoang Thuc Hao. Hoang's commitment to vernacular architecture in rural communities has earned him international acclaim. Hoang describes his guiding philosophy as "Happiness architecture $1+1 > 2$ ", an equation combining architecture and core vernacular values to generate a common voice greater than the sum of its parts."
